

Holy place

46

My picture is called house of faith. All religions are welcome. The towers of the house are quiet pray rooms. There are all the holy books in there and lifts for disabled peoples. Different religions have services different times of day. I have chosen holy place because it is important every religion has one. The bell on top is for sounding when services are on. It has different tunes for different religions. The flags on the towers are changed to different religions symbols every day. It is important everyone is welcome.
